

UBL WEBSITE DISCLAIMER

United Bank Limited (“UBL”) provides this web site as a service to its clients, internet subscribers, online readers and the community using the world wide web. The information contained in this web site is not intended as legal advice. None of the information on this site should be construed to reflect the opinion of UBL or any of its employees or clients for any particular matter of whatsoever nature. While the information on this web site may be updated periodically, additional facts or future developments may affect the content of the site and no guarantee is given that the information provided is correct, complete, or up-to-date. UBL assumes no liability or responsibility for any errors or omissions in the content of this website. Information located on website may not reflect the current legal or factual position in respect of any particular matter.

If you want specific, comprehensive, and up-to-date information or help with a particular factual situation, you should seek assistance from any of UBL’s representatives.

If you contact UBL by e-mail regarding any matter in which UBL has no nexus with you (as a client or otherwise), any information you communicate may not be treated as privileged and/or confidential.

Further, e-mail transmission is not guaranteed as error-free. UBL therefore does not accept liability for any errors or omissions in the contents of any messages that arise out of e-mail transmission.

This web site may contain links to other areas of interest and does not imply that UBL is affiliated or associated with, or endorses, or is legally authorized to use any trade name, registered trademark, logo, seal, or copyrighted symbol so used. UBL is not responsible for third party content accessed through or linked to our website. Visitors may visit, access, download or print materials on the website only for personal use. All commercial or other use is prohibited, unless otherwise provided by UBL.